

Donald Sloan

Donald is Head of the Department of Hospitality, Leisure and Tourism Management at Oxford Brookes University, a position he has held since 2003, and Chair and Co-founder of Oxford Gastronomica, a specialist centre for the study of food, drink and culture. He teaches and researches field of gastronomy, focusing in particular on food-related consumer behaviour and social influences on the construction of culinary taste. In 2003 he was the first recipient of the Martin Radcliffe Fellowship in Gastronomy, funded by the Savoy Educational Trust. He holds various external positions including Trustee of the Jane Grigson Trust, Patron of the newly formed Institute for the Study of Culinary Cultures at Dillard University in New Orleans and Board member of Visit Oxfordshire.